Again, thanks for taking the time to meet with me on 9 January to go over some of the redactions about which I had questions.

May I expect to get your official feedback soon, as we agreed at the meeting? I really, really need to get the manuscript to my publisher ASAP.

If any of my specific requests for reconsideration are holding up your final response, you may consider it withdrawn. Individually, none of these specific requests are important enough to me to hold up things any longer.

Thanks and regards,
John
